Not a template: `custom_text`, the free text an admin types in Admin, Send WhatsApp. It must never be in GUPSHUP_TEMPLATES.

What to check in Gupshup for each template

1. Status is Approved. Pending, Rejected, Paused or Disabled templates fail at send time.
2. The ID in Gupshup equals the ID in this sheet. A template that was deleted and created again has a new ID, and the old ID in the server settings stops working.
3. The name is exact, lowercase with underscores.
4. The number of {{n}} placeholders equals the variable count here. A mismatch is rejected by WhatsApp.
5. invoice_ready and receipt_ready have a Document header. Without it the PDF cannot be attached and the send fails.
6. The template belongs to the same Gupshup app (the app name and source number the server sends from).

Where the server reads them

1. Template IDs: the `GUPSHUP_TEMPLATES` line in `backend/.env` on the EC2 server. The local copy does not affect production. Restart the backend after changing it.
2. Also in that file: `GUPSHUP_API_KEY`, `GUPSHUP_SOURCE_PHONE` and `GUPSHUP_APP_NAME`. If any of the three is empty, the server silently uses a stub and sends nothing. The boot log says which is live: look for "WhatsApp channel: Gupshup adapter" versus "WhatsApp channel: STUB adapter" (`docker compose logs backend | grep "WhatsApp channel"` on EC2).
3. A wrong API key, source phone or app name makes every send fail, not only one template.
4. Wording sent as free text (only reaches customers who messaged you in the last 24 hours): `backend/src/modules/notifications/message-bodies.ts`.
5. Names: `backend/src/modules/notifications/templates.ts`. A send that fails after its retries is saved as FAILED in the Notification table, with Gupshup's error in `errorMessage`.
